DR. GREER WANTS UNITY.

IS OPPOSED TO BIGOTRY.

Sorry Roman Catholics and Unitarians Are Not in Federation.

No further attempt was made at the last day's session of the Interchurch Conference to let he Unitarians in. The practical utility of the federation was shown when the business committee's report was ready. The report outlined the work of the federation. In addition to this report, the draft of a letter, summarizing the proceedings, was adopted and will be sent to all the churches represented at the conference.

Dr. James M. Farra, of Brooklyn, presided at the morning session, and the permanent chairman, the Rev. Dr. Roberts, at the final session yesterday afternoon. The conference was officially closed with a brilliant reception at the

The speakers on the last day were the Rev. E. R. Hendrix, Samuel B. Capen, Lieutenant Gevernor Bruce and the Rt. Rev. Daniel H. Greer, bishop coadjutor of New-York. Aside from the sound speech of Justice Brewer last Monday night, Bishop Greer's address is considered as one of the most helpful and exhaustive of the conference. He spoke on "The Ideal

During the course of his speech he quietly intimated that he wished to see every Christian denomination in the new movement. He particularly regretted that the Roman Catholics were not represented. He said:

Our Roman Catholic brethren, who are not with us in this conference (and I am sorry they are not), have something to teach us here, in teaching as they do the value and the need not merely of a past but of a present Incarnation, of an Incarnation which has been through all the Christian ages by the Christian ages by the Christian ages by the Christian church continued; a perpetual incar-nation, then, now and always—God manifest in the flesh.

nation, then, now and always—God manifest in the fiesh.

One of their most distinguished and eloquent representatives has given to this thought a notable expression, when, in speaking of the mass, Cardinai Newman says: "It is not a mere form of words, it is a great action, the greatest that can be on earth. It is not the invocation, but, if I may dare use the term, the evocation of that Eternal One, becoming present on the altar in flesh and blood, before Whom angels bow and devils tremble."

Now we, as the representatives of the Protestant part of Christendom, do not accept that doctrine of the mass, that evocation of God, that calling forth in flesh and blood of God upon the altar. And yet, it does, I think, shadow forth a truth which the Protestant world to some extent has missed or failed to grasp. It is this—that the miracle of the Incarnation is meant in some real sense to be, through the agency of the Christian church, a standing miracle in the world, not on the church's sitar wrought, but in the church's self, in the church's life.

And let me say in passing, if some devout and reverent Christian beautics in the church and the passing of the church and reverent Christian beautics in the church's fire.

And let me say in passing, if some devout at reverent Christian hearts do indeed find it on the state of the state wrought, then, although I must and do reject their doctrine. I will not reject them, but in the common bond and fellowship of the Gospel will to do in my way what they are trying to downtheirs—to make the Christian church on earth thody of Jesus Christ, of her Incarnate Lord, Gmanifest in the flesh.

The business committee's report calls for uniform divorce laws and urges upon all ministers of the gospel the strict observance of New Testament ideals as to marriage and remarriage. Graft in high places, insurance company disorders and the abuse of private capital were found worthy of mention in the following reso-

Whereas. In the divine order of things there can be no discord between labor and the accumulated results of labor known as capital:

Resolved, That private capital in every instance ought to be administered as a sacred trust for the commonwealth—this not merely in the distribution of surplus wealth, but also in all the active, productive uses of capital, the law of God requiring not only beneficence, instead of corrupting extravagance, but also, instead of greedy production, productive activities conducted on lines most considerate of the ultimate well-being of the whole community and the immediate welfare of the immediate workers.

iderate of the ultimate well-being of the whole ommunity and the immediate welfare of the immediate workers.

That we see in the numerous revelations of graft in many high places of business and politics the system of a widespread commercialism which Jesus called "covetousness" and condemned more severely than any other vice, and which has in our time sanctioned many customs that are not only wicked but criminal, and we urge that, while public indignation is affaine all unrighteous political and commercial customs of rich and poor shall be brought to the bar of conscience by faithful preachers, teachers, and publicists, and especially that the pernicious doctrine that "corporations great teaching that nations, and therefore parties and all associations, are "moral persons," to the end that the highest standard of honer and honesty that men set for themselves in individual action may be maintained also when they act together, whether in religion or business or politics.

Mrs. Todd's Daughter Awaits Attorney's Discoveries Before Acting.

Mrs. Frank Tousey, daughter of Mrs. Margaretta Tood, who was found dead on the Philadelphia and Reading tracks in Philadelphia, arrived yes-terday from Europe, worried over her mother's death, and disturbed by a bad voyage. She went to the Hoffman House, where she will probably emain for a considerable time. Mrs. Tousey was asked last night, what she in ended to do in the matter of Lockwood's claim to the trusteeship to her mother's estate.

"I leave that entirely in the hands of my at torney," she said. "He will investigate, and, if he finds anything wrong, will take the proper procedure. In reply to a question as to the value of the estate, she said: "I know nothing of the value and I care nothing, but if it has been tampered with, I will push the case to the extent of the

Mrs. Tousey said her mother told her that a new will had been made about eighteen months ago, and that last June she had said that she was entirely through with Lockwood, and had receipts in full from him for services rendered, the last of which was drawing up the 1902 will.

In response to further questioning, Mrs. Tousey said she had received letters from her mother in Europe, in which she complained that the will and other papers, which she kept in the musle room, had been stolen.

"My attorney," she said, "is directing a search in Philadelphia, and I shall take no action of any kind in the matter until I hear from him."

It was learned last night that two tickets for Weber's Theatre, dated the day after she died, were found on Mrs. Todd's body and from this it is assumed that she had no intention of staying away from the city in Philadelphia or eisewhere. Mrs. Tousey said her mother told her that a new

General Clayton Explains Origin of Feud with Arkansas Governor.

[From The Tribune Bureau.]

Washington, Nov. 21.-President Roosevelt had long talk over Arkansas politics this morning with General Powell Clayton, ex-Ambassador to Mexico. General Clayton was one of the President's hosts when he recently visited Little The refusal of Governor Jefferson Davis to partake of luncheon with the President on that occasion because General Clayton was present created something of a local sensation at the time, and was the subject of considerable merriment in the President's office this morning.

"Governor Davis says that I murdered his aunt," said General Clayton. "I was in command of the militia during the Ku Klux days in Arkansas, and one day a number of my boys happened to pass by her house when she was ill. She died as the result of the illness or the fright which the noise of marching feet caused, and ever since then the Governor has been my avowed enemy. I was sorry indeed when I first learned of the good lady's death, but I do not see how any blame can be piaced at my door. Governor Davis is making a tremendous fight to get into the Senate, and for a time it looked as though he would succeed in beating Berry. But now the decent people of the State seem to have all waked up to a realization of the Governor's true character, and I think that Senator Berry will whip him.

"When the Governor made that exhibition of "Governor Davis says that I murdered his

"When the Governor made that exhibition of himself at Little Rock, both in his speech favor-ing lynching and his grandstand play about the ing lynching and his grandstand play about the luncheon, he probably won a little capital among a certain class of people in Arkansas. I think it is only fair to the decent people of the State to say, however, that his following is made up mostly of the 'one gallus' crowd. Although there is not immediate hope of Republican supremacy in Arkansas, we are making great gains at every election. Last fall we cut the Democratic majority down from 40.000 to 11.000 Democratic majority down from 40,000 to 11,000, which is a pretty good showing for one of the States of the 'Solid South.'"

General Clayton has made his home in Washington with his daughter, and expects to remain here all winter, with the possible exception of a month or six weeks, which he contemplates spending in Cuba.

ALDERMEN DEFY MAYOR

One Ordered Arrested in Mount Vernon-Impeachment Possible.

The meeting of the Board of Aldermen in Mount Vernon last night resembled a riot. At one time during the proceedings, Dr. Brush, the new Independent Mayor, called upon the police to arrest Alderman Clark, one of the two Republican leaders of the board. Roundsman Riley and Patrolman Giley made their way over to Clark, while the onlookers, who were in sympathy with Brush, yelled approval, but Clark subsided before the policemen reached him. eached him.

Another boisterous demonstration occurred at the close of the meeting, when a crowd gathered about Alderman Fuller, another Republican, and jeered

The excitement began when the Mayor called on Alderman Hayes, as the chairman of the newly appointed Auditing Committee, to report on city bills. It was Alderman Hayes's duty to offer a resolution to pay the bills, but he refused to do because, he said, Mayor Brush had no authority to appoint him chairman of the committee. Alder-man Clark jumped to his feet and tried to relieve Mr. Hayes of the responsibility of holding up the city bills by offering the resolution himself to direct the drawing of warrants.
"You are out of order!" shouted Mayor Brush.

"That resolution will have to be offered by Alderman Hayes, chairman of the Auditing Committee, "I demand a rollcall on my resolution," insisted Alderman Clark. Mayor Brush ordered City Clerk Reynolds not to call the roll, and Mr. Reynolds remained silent to call the roll, and Mr. Reynolds remained silent.
